

THE COOPERATOR

THE 875 WEST 181st STREET NEWSLETTER

Your new Board held its first meeting Thursday, October 7, 2010.

Officers were elected as follows:

President: Peter Schalk

Vice President: Mark Planner

Secretary: Della Dekay

Treasurer: James Lee

In addition, June Cross, Lori McFarland and Bin Weng will head important subcommittees.

Your new Board is a microcosm of the building as a whole. It includes a professor of journalism, a director of human resources, a restaurateur, an architect, a voice teacher and two attorneys.

We would like to assure everyone who lives at 875 that the Board is already taking steps to address the serious issues raised at the general shareholders meeting held several weeks ago, including water damage, scaffolding and building maintenance.

One of the most important issues was the need for more immediate and forthcoming communication from the Board. We hope to use this newsletter as a means of keeping all of our neighbors informed of important news in a timely fashion.

It is most unfortunate that the first update involves a burglary on the 3rd floor. While the police continue their investigation, it is vital that we all remain alert and aware.

In our continuing effort to make our building more secure, we again ask that all doors leading from the building be kept closed and locked at all times. If you see a door propped open, please close it.

We are in the process of updating the website and the intercom and will let you know when these and other important issues are resolved.

Please send us any suggestions or concerns you have. We look forward to a very productive year.
